

The Problem Solver

You're a Thinker with a Helper side.

Thinker

+ Helper

You're curious and caring. You'll thrive in work that solves real problems for real people.

Your strongest interest is Thinker (100%), followed by Helper (95%). Most people are a mix of two types, and the careers in this report are the ones where your mix fits best.

How to read this report

- It measures interest, not ability. The scores show what you enjoy, based on your 30 answers. They say nothing about how clever you are.
- Match % compares careers with your mix. A higher match means the work uses more of what you enjoy. It is not a prediction of success.
- Use it to start conversations. Share it with a parent, teacher or career counsellor, and take it again next year as your interests grow.

What makes you tick

How strongly each of the six interest types showed up in your answers (based on the Holland RIASEC model).

Checklist

- Talk this report through with a parent, teacher or career counsellor.
- Set a target grade for each subject on the left.
- Check current KUCCPS requirements for Counselling Psychologist, Doctor and Clinical Officer.
- Find someone who does one of these jobs and ask about their day.
- Take Career Bridge again next year to see how your interests change.

For parents and guardians: good first questions

- "Which of the 30 questions did you enjoy answering most, and why?"
- "What would a good day at work look like for you as a counselling psychologist?"
- "Which of your subjects do you enjoy most right now, and which would you like help with?"

Results that differ from what you expected are common and useful. Look at the interests behind each match: often the career you had in mind shares most of them.

This report is a guide, not a final answer. It is based on interests, not grades or ability. Pay, entry grades and demand are indicative and change yearly: confirm current requirements on the KUCCPS portal and with your school's career teacher.
